“drawing” Jewelry

Composition

The idea behind this collection is a composition which is drawn on the body with geometrical planes and straight lines.

A variation of the key components - a silver chain and flat plates- create geometrical forms that fall against the skin in asymmetrical balance. Quietly and sharply, it makes a strong impression on the softly curving chest.
